

LOVE IS IN THE EARTH

A KALEIDOSCOPE OF CRYSTALS

THE UPDATED REFERENCE BOOK DESCRIBING THE METAPHYSICAL PROPERTIES OF THE MINERAL KINGDOM

by Melody (1995)

Earth-Love Publishing House 3440 Youngfield Street, Suite 353 Wheat Ridge, CO. 80033 (USA)

It should be noted that there are some gemstones on the market which have been colour-enhanced, either via artificial radiation or heat; these processes have not affected the energies of the minerals which have been tested by the author. It should also be noted that some gemstones which are available still emit radiation - it is the policy in the USA that artificially irradiated stones are not permitted to be resold until after dissipation of the radiation. Many other countries do not have the same policy, and not every stone which enters the United States is tested for radioactivity; consequently, there are those who are in unknowing possession of radioactive minerals and gemstones.

The astrological signs assigned to the minerals are indicative of the attributes of the minerals.

The crystal is defined as any portion of a mineralogical body exhibiting characteristic internal structure and enclosed by symmetrically arranged plane surfaces, intersecting at definite and characteristic angles. It is the 'regular' form which a substance tends to assume, during the process of solidification, through the inherent power of cohesive attraction.

Crystals exhibit the properties of both piezoelectricity and pyroelectricity. Piezoelectricity is the quality whereby electricity, and sometimes light, is produced via compression. Many of the early civilisations of the Earth (e.g. Mayan, Aztec, America Indian, African Native, Celtic) often used quartz crystals in ceremonies and struck the crystals in order to produce a flash of visible light. Compression produces the release of electrons. Release of compression allows expansion (albeit minute) of the crystal and concurrent re-absorption of electrons; hence, producing mechanical energy (vibration). A high energy source applied to a crystal may cause it to fracture. (There are numerous examples of personal crystals fracturing in use.) Pyroelectricity is the quality of an electrified state, or polarity, which is produced by, and changes with, variation in temperature. The pyroelectric state activates expansion of the inherent energy when the crystal is heated; subsequently, when cooled, the energy contracts and remains within the structure. It has been known for centuries in India and Ceylon, that tourmaline, when heated in the embers of a fire, first attracted ashes and then repelled ashes.

Other crystals (e.g. topaz) with either attract or repel bits of paper, thread or ashes. This phenomenon is due to electrical charges which accumulate on the surface of the crystal (i.e. heat producing an evident electrical energy). The topaz will continue to hold the electrical excitation for several hours.

To experience dis-ease is to experience a total or partial disconnection from wholeness, a loss of awareness of the innate and universal source of perfection. The members of the mineralogical kingdom have been used for centuries to act as catalysts and to assist one in becoming re-united with that source.

NUMERICAL VIBRATIONS

Numerologists maintain that every name vibrates and is dynamic in its vitality. Numbers are associated with each letter of the alphabet and each number vibrates to a particular frequency. When representing one's name in numbers, it is said that the numbers which are excluded indicate those experiences which are needed during this lifetime to assist the spirit, and the physical manifestation of the spirit, in the experiences necessary to facilitate the completion of the cycle of successive re-birth.

It is also said that those numbers which are included in ones name represent the minerals which will support the actualisation of that which is required during this lifetime.

Since particular vibrations/frequencies attract, enhance, and assist in the actualisation of certain experiences, the utilisation of members of the mineral kingdom, which vibrate to specialised frequencies, may help one to complete and to understand the experiences which are necessary to further ones development. The following listing provides a method to examine ones name in order to detect the missing numbers.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I
J	K	L	M	N	O	P	Q	R
S	T	U	V	W	X	Y	Z

The numerical vibration, for each mineralogical form discussed herein, is listed with the alphabetical cataloguing of the text of this book.

DEFINITIONS

AKASHIC RECORDS - The Akashic records are ethereal records of all actions and thoughts which have or will occur.

CLOUD-BUSTING / WEATHER CONTROL - Cloud busting is a method of weather control which used a type of divining rod. The equipment required includes a 10 foot length of 1' diameter galvanised pipe, steel wool, duct tape, and a 5=6 foot length of 1' diameter conduit steel e.g. BX cable from the plumbing section of any hardware store.) The steel wool is wrapped around the end of the conduit steel and this assembly is pressed into the galvanised pipe. Contact between the conduit steel and the galvanised pipe with duct tape at the area of connection.

Pointing the assembly (outdoors) in a North-Westerly direction has initiated rain; the rod can be aimed at any cloud, subsequently producing an ethereal hole in the cloud, and often bringing rain, or at least, helping the cloud to move. Pointing the assembly in an Easterly direction has helped in moving weather through an area. Pointing the assembly at a 55 gallon drum which is full of water and mounted at an angle, such that the water trickles slowly from the drum, has been used to help the movement and intensity of weather to return to its natural state or course.

Positioning the rod on the shoulder, while aiming it in the direction where an observer can recognise the colour of blue and/or purple emanating from it, has facilitated increased activity in the natural processes required to clear an area of pollution and/or radioactivity. It can further be used to help to clear pollution from streams.

One can also point the rod at the self in order to both clean and restore the chakras.

The rod, pointed toward the heavens, while the thought process focuses on the eternal bonding with those on other planets, has also been used to attract ships from other worlds. The rod again pointed toward the heavens while the thought process focuses on the spiritual connection with those in the spiritual worlds, has been used to facilitate contact with those from the 'other side'.

The utilisation of crystalline forms (e.g. attached via natural fibre wrapping to the sides of the rod) have increased the powers, the stamina, and the intensity of the divining rod.

DOWSING - Dowsing is defined as the act of searching for something and/or facilitating a specific condition via the utilisation of a diving rod.

GRIDDING - The localities within the Earth and in which minerals reside are connected by an inter-dimensional grid. This grid allows, for example, for the transmittal of energies from one mineral to another. Those minerals which are removed from within the Earth tend to retain an ethereal connection to those remaining within the grid. In order to activate and to enhance the connection between the minerals which are on the Earth plane and those which are part of the interdimensional grid, a graphic design is accessed via the alignment of the energies of the specific tangible selected minerals and those minerals which remain within the Earth.

LEY LINES - Ley lines are geometrically straight lines of energy which are arranged in a web-like pattern over the Earth. When two or more ley lines intersect, a power point emanates the concentration of the natural energy forces.

Utilisation of a crystal in the area of a power point enhances both the energy of the crystal and the ability of the user, power points are excellent areas for psychic endeavours and for the actualisation of that which is necessary in ones life.

The location of power points can be determined most conveniently via dowsing; using two dowsing rods, a power point lies where the rods cross. In addition to various other methods, the pendulum can also be used to determine the location of power points.

VORTEX - A vortex is the intersection of multiple ley lines, creating an intensely powerful area with respect to the concentration of natural energy forces. The area of the vortex tends to enhance all psychic abilities and to facilitate experiences which bring healing energies to unusual manifestations.

The areas upon the Earth where these forces are abundant include locations in the proximity of Table Mountain, Cape Town, RSA,; Sedona, Arizona, USA; Topo Do Mundo, close to Belo Horizonte, Brasil; Kathmandu, Nepal; Pune, India; South Of England, UK; Browns Mountain, close to Spokane Washington, USA; and many areas in the mountains of Peru.

AMBER

(Astrological sign of Leo and Aquarius)

Amber is a fossilised resin and is usually golden to yellow-brown in colour. Some amber has been found to contain red, blue, or green hues.

Amber allows the body to heal itself by absorbing and transmuting negative energy into positive energy. It emits a sunny and bright soothing energy which helps to calm nerves and to enliven the disposition.

The different colours of amber may be used on the appropriate chakras to facilitate opening and cleansing.

It is a stone dedicated to the connection of the conscious self to universal perfection. It helps one in the art of manifestation to bring that which is desired to the state of reality. It stimulates the intellect and opens the crown chakra. It also transmutes the energy of physical vitality toward the activation of unconditional love.

Amber provides an energy to kindle the realisation and subsequent response of choice, helping one to choose and to be chosen.

It has been used as a symbol for renewal of marriage vows and to assure promises. It has been said to bring good luck to warriors.

It is a sacred stone to both the Native American and Eastern Indians. It has also been used in the fire ceremonies of ancient tribal healers. It was burned, beginning in the medieval days, as a fumigant and as an incense to clear the environment of negativity.

It is said to have been one of the stones used in the breastplate of the high priest.

It aligns the ethereal energies to the physical, mental, and emotional bodies, providing for an even flow of perfect order to the requirements of the Earth plane while balancing the electro-magnetics of the physical body.

It cleanses the environment in which it rests and is an excellent mineral for use in purifying birthing and re-birthing rooms. It also acts to purify ones body, mind and spirit when worn, carried or used as an elixir.

It has been used in the treatment of goiter and other dis-eases of the throat. It has also been successful in the treatment of disorders of the kidneys and bladder. In ancient times it was used as a penicillin-type remedy, ground and ingested or soaked (as an elixir) and subsequently drunk.

Vibrates to the number 3.

AMETHYST

(Astrological Signs of Pisces, Virgo, Aquarius & Capricorn)

Amethyst is a variety of quartz which occurs (throughout the world) either in crystalline or massive form. The associated colour ranges from deep purple to pale lavender. The presence of manganese in clear quartz produces amethyst, while additional amounts of iron content vary the purple colouration. The deepest amethyst colours occur in those crystals from Uruguay, Siberia, Africa and Colorado. The most common occurrence is a medium purple colour which is found in Brazil. Double terminated crystals from Vera Cruz occur in the light amethyst colour - this type is said to provide an immediate Beta state; in addition, it provides for stimulation of the throat chakra, then providing a calming effect - stimulating the heart chakra, then providing a calming effect; stroking it brings energy emission; placement on the arm also provides for tranquillity. Double terminated crystals from the locality of Brandenburg in The Republic of South Africa occur in a very deep amethyst colour (sometimes with phantoms). The very pale lavender variety of amethyst has been found in Oregon; the configuration is quite noticeable due to the three large and three small sides. Amethyst elestials, sometimes combined with smoky quartz, have been found in Montana and Brasil; they exhibit the properties of the elestial (see the QUARTZ section of this book) and those of amethyst and/or smoky quartz. Plates of flowers consisting of amethyst and quartz have also been found in Brasil - this configuration includes some clear quartz and brings a lightness and loving-ness to ones environment.

Amethyst is a "stone of spirituality and contentment". It facilitates transmutation of lower energies into the higher frequencies of both the spiritual and ethereal levels. It is representative of the principles of complete metamorphosis.

It balances the energies of the intellectual, emotional and physical bodies and provides a clear connection between the Earth plane and the other worlds.; It clears the aura and stabilises and transmutes any dysfunctional energy located within ones body. Amethyst also bestows stability, strength, invigoration and peace; the peace being the perfect peace which was present prior to birth.

It is also a "stone of meditation", being excellent in conducting the energy of calm and peacefulness to help one to both enter and maintain the state. It opens and activates the crown chakra.

It is said to have been one of the stones used in the breastplate of the high priest.

Amethyst can be used to protect against psychic attacks; the energy of the attack being transmitted to the universe after its transformation into positive, loving energy.

It is "warm and cuddly" as well as regal and ruling. It brings one the energies of serenity and composure while inciting fairness in decisions and enhancement in the ability to manage any and all responsibilities.

It enhances cooperation and co-efficiency between ones mental, physical and emotional bodies, between the physical and spiritual worlds, and during activities of this world.

It provides the "sense" of common sense and encourages flexibility in decisions. It controls temperament by imparting a soothing, calming and tranquillising influence, while clearing-away unproductive and unkind vibrations. It is also said to help business affairs to prosper.

It assists in the assimilation of new ideas; by carrying, wearing, or using amethyst, one can remember and apply the myriad of ways which can be used to overcome any crystallised/stationary areas within ones physical form, intellectual activities, emotional attitudes and state of consciousness.

By directing love to the structure of the amethyst, the energy is increased by orders of magnitude and returned to the region in which the amethyst is located.

Consciously holding the amethyst allows one to activate the energy to produce realignment of the energy bodies, while providing for stimulus to rectify dis-association between the aspects of cause and effect.

It further allows for the integration of cause and effect, providing insight into which portion of the actualised self requires remodelling in order to facilitate change toward the ultimate state of perfection.

It has, since historic times, been used to encourage and support sobriety. It is an excellent stone for one who is attempting to find freedom from addictive personalities (oneself, or another).

It is also useful in the situation of debating, affording advantage to the holder of the amethyst; the advantage being attained via spiritual insight coupled with intellectual reasoning.

Amethyst has been used in conjunction with chlorite to expedite the removal of unwanted energy implants from ones physical and auric bodies. The combination, when placed in the energy field of the physical body, provides a connection with universal mind which, in turn, confers the information with respect to the location of the implant.

It can be used in the treatment of hearing disorders, to both strengthen the skeletal system and reinforce ones posture, and to stimulate both the sympathetic nervous system and the endocrine glands to proper and precise performance. It is quite useful in the treatment of disorders of the nervous system, digestive tract, heart, stomach, skin and teeth. It can help cellular disorders to re-adjust and re-align in order to eliminate distressful conditions.

It has been used in the treatment of insomnia and to ameliorate pain from headaches and other disorders; the pain being dissipated completely. It is also useful in stabilising mental disorders. It has been used, with excellent results, as an elixir in the treatment of arthritis.

An elixir of amethyst can be used in all of the areas mentioned.

“Rutilated” amethyst is a rare form of amethyst which does not contain rutile, but contains goethite. This formation combines the qualities of amethyst with the qualities of goethite (see GOETHITE section in this book). It should be noted that goethite inclusions in amethyst are infrequent; but, however unique, the beauty of this configuration is tantamount, bringing the beauty to the field of the user.

In addition, amethyst is also found in combination with Cacoxenite, to provide a very powerful energy, and combining the qualities of both minerals.

Vibrates to the number 3.

CINNABAR

(Astrological sign of Leo)

Cinnabar crystallises in the form of compact granular masses and rhombohedral, thick tabular, or needle-like crystals. The colour ranges from a beautiful vermilion (red) to brown-red and grey. It is interesting to note that the name ‘cinnabar’ is said to have been derived from the Eastern Indian word for ‘dragon’s blood’.

This mineral bestows both an aesthetically appealing and elegant demeanour. It stimulates dignity, vitality and power; it is quite beneficial in the world of business and finance, assisting one in the recognition of historical trends and enabling one toward invincibility, while serving to remove obstructions.

It is been reported that cinnabar is one of the stones to be called the ‘merchant’s stone’; placing a cluster or a crystal of cinnabar in ones cash box has produced an increase in income for the merchant. It not only assists the merchant in acquiring wealth, but helps one to maintain the state of wealth.

It also brings one the qualities of fluency, persuasiveness, and effectiveness in ones aspirations. It furthers ones assertiveness while eliminating aggression. It is helpful in community work and in the organisation structure, assisting one in remembering the ‘giving’ qualities of the Divine.

It connects one with the source of all being, promoting the acceptance that ‘everything is, indeed, okay.’ It is excellent in extracting energy blockages, yielding ease in alignment of the energy centres.

It can be used in the treatment of disorders of the blood, to bring strength to the physical body, to provide flexibility in ones movement, and to help in the treatment of weight disorders. It has also been helpful in correcting fertility deficiencies.

Vibrates to the number 8.

CITRINE

(Astrological Signs of Gemini, Aries, Libra & Leo)

Citrine is a variety of quartz, the colour being in the range from yellow to golden brown to burnt amber.

It is one of the two minerals on the planet which does not hold and accumulate negative energy, but dissipates and transmutes it, working out problems on both the physical and subtle levels. It, hence never needs clearing or cleansing.

It has also been reported that citrine is one of the stones to be called the "merchant's stone"; placing a cluster or a crystal of citrine in ones cash box has produced more income for the merchant. It not only assists the merchant in acquiring wealth, but helps to maintain the state of wealth.

The mineral is useful for balancing the yin-yang energy and for aligning the chakras with the ethereal plane.

It activates, opens and energises the navel and solar plexus chakras, directing, via personal power, creativity and intelligent decisiveness, the energy necessary to enhance the physical body. It stimulates both mental focus and endurance.

It emits an elevated energy which provides one with supplemental initiative, coupled with emotional balance. It stimulates the intuitive self and promotes contact with higher forces of intelligence.

It also illuminates the energy of the root chakra, delivering both comfort and optimism. It can help one to dispense with the fundamental level of fear. It further promotes a radiance from within the self, culminating in a constant happy disposition. It brightens even the darkest corner of ones perceived reality, and helps one to "laugh without restraint".

It is quite efficient in conveying, when necessary, information relative to the appropriate aspects of survival.

It also allows for clarification of problems related to the realms of the intellect and emotions.

It influences, in a positive manner, the areas of education, business pursuits, and interpersonal relationships. It is an excellent stone for smoothing family or group problems and, subsequently, producing cohesiveness within the associative members. It acts similarly to the cutting edge of a sword, penetrating problems and expediting solutions.

Citrine, especially in the faceted form, stimulates the crown chakra, allowing for synthesis between the intellect and total perfection; it is therefore quite helpful in problem solving, for facilitating recognition of resolutions to mental conundrums, and for promoting mental awareness on a moment-to-moment basis. It is said to stimulate openness and to accelerate the wakening of the mind.

It is an excellent stone for clearing the aura and for aligning the auric body with the physical structure, diminishing the "muddy" areas in both the aura and the physical body. It can act to stabilise the emotions, to dispel anger, and to encourage one to "look toward the sunrise", the freshness of beginnings, and the reality of excellence.

It is said to have been one of the stones used in the breastplate of the high priest.

In addition, there is a formation of Citrine/Smokey Quartz (sometimes with "clear quartz") with clean definition between the colours, which has been found in Brasil. This alliance of forces merges the energy of all three minerals and for a dynamic healing stone. The citrine acts to cleanse the energies of the smokey and "clear" quartz, while the smokey quartz provides grounding for all endeavours. The faceted form provides a distinct and bright energy for application to all aspects, combining the singular energies of the three minerals to provide an energy greater than the sum.

It can aid in digestion, can assist in the treatment of digestive disorders, and can promote the circulation of the blood. It has been used in the treatment of degenerative disorders and to facilitate the diminishment of growths.

It has also been used to increase visual abilities, to balance the thyroid and to activate the thymus.

Vibrates to the number 6.

Precis written by Jodi Brunner, new version available.